

Mail Smart Reply (MSR) Keynotes

Do not mix PSR with MSR. Make sure you're using the right guidelines for the given workflow, as some of the criteria for evaluation is slightly different.

- Observe the Skip reasons on page 6
- Additional personal information is per response. If a response has NO additional info, do not use the one from the previous response.
- User prompt/previous email has priority over additional personal info IF there is contradicting information (check GLs pg.29)
- This means, Groundedness is failed if it follows personal info but contradicts the direct instructions, which have priority.
- In certain scenarios, creative freedom is allowed but only for generic suggestions/brainstorming, not very specific and unverifiable content.
- Pay attention to details, including recipient's name. If it cannot be found based on input or additional personal info, but it is provided in the response, rate as not grounded.
- Personalization dimension is evaluated independently of how you evaluated the other dimensions. It is not an overall quality rating, but a rating on how the response suggestion captures the user's communication style for the given context.

Remember: Evaluate each dimension individually based on its own criteria. Analyze carefully and do not rush!

Review the guidelines carefully before starting your work and use them during your work.